

Midwest is one of the largest, most technologically advanced court reporting service providers in the U.S. with full production facilities and reporters skilled in all aspects of court reporting.

Professionalism – A recent survey of the legal profession ranked Midwest court reporters high in professionalism. Additional queries defined 'professionalism' as "positive attitude, accuracy and prompt transcript turnaround." Significantly, these are the guidelines for Midwest court reporter recruitment and your guarantee of highly skilled, professional work.

Industry Specialists – Medicine, finance, pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and forensics all have their unique vernacular. Many Midwest reporters have developed industry-specific proficiency and are available to meet your special requirements.

Realtime Reporting – The instant translation of shorthand into English (voice to print) through a court reporter's notebook computer to yours. It provides the ability to see instant testimony throughout the proceedings. This technology is available via the internet anytime, anywhere.

Networking – Midwest is part of the 250-affiliate firms that form national networks. These companies meet our professional criteria and provide both the technical capabilities and facilities required by our clients.

Repository – Access your transcripts and exhibits anytime. View your scheduled depositions or add a new one. All services available via www.midwestlitigation.com.

Midwest – People dedicated to their clients and to the pursuit of professional excellence in the field of court reporting and trial services.